INTRODUCTION

Volunteer commitment and peer networking are two hallmarks of the role of the International Economic Development Council (IEDC) in furthering the professional development of its members. These two factors have been combined to form the Accredited Economic Development Organization (AEDO) program, an exciting means of recognizing the professional excellence of economic development entities throughout North America.

The role of a site visit is crucial to the success of this program. Only through objective review and analysis of the applicant economic development organization's operations can meaningful and constructive recommendations for improvement be made. The accreditation visits help to communicate time-tested standards and professional methods to candidate organizations. The leadership and guidance provided through the AEDO program will help candidate organizations forge new directions and sharpen their competitive edge.

The nature of the AEDO program requires that all communications regarding the identity of candidate organizations remain confidential unless, or until, accreditation is achieved. All information divulged as part of the accreditation process is likewise, considered to be confidential and may not be disclosed to sources external to the AEDO program.

This document may not be reproduced in whole or in part, in any form, without the express written permission of the IEDC.

PROGRAM SUMMARY

The primary goals of the Accredited Economic Development Organization program are:

- To assist economic development organizations with independent, authoritative feedback on their operation, structure and procedures as a means of improving programs and enhancing business and community support;
- To recognize excellence in local economic development organizations and to heighten the visibility of the economic development process in the community; and
- To recognize the vital contribution made by the organization's leader/manager to the economic development process.

The Accredited Economic Development Organization evaluation process consists of two stages:

1. Documentation Review; and,
2. Site Team Visit.

Each is designed to elicit specific and verifiable information about the structure, organization, funding, programs and staff of the candidate economic development organization. The documentation review serves as a screening stage for the program, whereby fledgling organizations can be informed that they have not yet reached the threshold for potentially successful completion of the accreditation review.

On completion of the Documentation Review and Site Visit, the results of both stages are considered to determine whether AEDO accreditation has been earned. Candidate organizations do not "pass" or "fail" this process. Every candidate organization that fails to receive accreditation will be advised of the necessary steps to be implemented to attain accreditation. Each organization will receive information and guidance on the areas of the accreditation process that require further development.

Application, accreditation and re-accreditation fees are based on the budget of the candidate organization. All travel and lodging expenses of the site visit team are reimbursed by the candidate organization. The entire application fee must be remitted prior to the site visit.

Given the nature of the information disclosed and the sometimes sensitive workings of applicant economic development organizations, all documentation and proceedings relating to the AEDO accreditation process will remain confidential. Information on candidate organizations, irrespective of whether they obtain AEDO status, will not be disclosed to third parties.

PROGRAM OUTLINE

I. Goals and Objectives:

- a) To assist economic development organizations with independent, authoritative feedback on operations, structure, and procedures as a means of improving programs and enhancing business and community support.
- b) To recognize excellence in local and regional economic development organizations;
- c) To heighten the visibility of the economic development process in the community; and,
- d) To recognize the contribution of an organization's leader/manager to the economic development process.

II. Program Components:

Application:

- a) Each applicant organization must have a full-time economic development professional in a leadership or senior staff role;
- b) Each applicant organization must submit information regarding its structure, organization, funding, program and staff to determine eligibility for participation (see Documentation Review Section). All such information will be considered confidential and will be reviewed only by appropriate members of the AEDO Subcommittee and IEDC staff;
- c) Each applicant organization must pay a nonrefundable application fee;
- d) IEDC staff will review applications for completeness and AEDO subcommittee co-chairs will determine if the applicant is eligible for participation; and,
- e) Applications will be accepted or rejected within sixty days of receipt and a site visit will be scheduled on acceptance of the application documentation.

Determination of Eligibility:

Applicant organizations must be devoted, as stated in their bylaws or articles of incorporation, to economic development.

Accreditation Review:

- a) The Chair of the AEDO Subcommittee will establish the site visit team. One of the two selected team members will be appointed as the site team leader. The site team leader will review potential conflicts of interest and ensure transparency and probity with the selection of the team and the site visit. Applicant organizations should communicate any perceived conflict of interest;
- b) Documentation submitted in support of an organization's application will be examined and a critical evaluation will be undertaken;
- c) A site visit team will perform a review of the applicant organization and issue a critical evaluation, using the list of criteria (see Site Visit Criteria section). Visits will be scheduled within sixty days of completion of the Documentation Review. A written draft report of the team's findings should be completed while onsite on the second day of the visit;
- d) The evaluation teams will submit its findings, and make a recommendation to, the AEDO Subcommittee;
- e) The AEDO Subcommittee will inform the applicant organization of its decision and will provide a detailed critique;
- f) The AEDO Subcommittee will forward its recommendation to the IEDC Communications Committee. The Communications Committee will then vote to accept or decline the recommendation of the AEDO Subcommittee. In the event that an applicant organization disagrees with the decision of the AEDO Subcommittee, the Chair of the Communications Committee will make the final decision; and,
- g) On site team members will not be permitted to seek, or take up employment, either on a consultant, part-time, or full-time basis, with an applicant organization for a period of one-year following the accreditation visit.

Accreditation and Re-accreditation:

- a) The initial accreditation period will be for 3 years, after which the accredited organization may seek re-accreditation. Re-accreditation will be for a period of 3 years, as will successive periods of re-accreditation;
- b) Re-accreditation will be granted on the basis of a documentation review, unless evidence exists such as a significant change in staff leadership, budget cut or organizational restructuring, that a new site visit is required; and,
- c) IEDC will recognize accredited and re-accredited organizations by issuing a plaque and press release, conducting a presentation ceremony when able, and by any other means as agreed to by IEDC and the accredited organization.

III. Structure:

Subcommittee of Communications Committee:

- a) The IEDC Communications Committee will appoint the Chair or Co-Chairs of the AEDO Subcommittee. The Chair or Co-Chairs of the AEDO Subcommittee will nominate individuals for the Subcommittee to the Communications Committee. The AEDO Subcommittee will consist of the Chair or Co-Chairs, the Vice Chair and the members as appointed, and,
- b) The Chair or Co-Chairs, Vice Chair and members of the AEDO Subcommittee will be members of IEDC, and must be Certified Economic Developers (CEcD's) or have at least 10 years of professional experience as economic development practitioner; and,
- c) The Chair or Co-chair, Vice Chair and members of the AEDO Subcommittee will serve for terms of two years.

IV. Program Costs:

Fees:

- a) Fees will reflect a sliding scale based on the size of applicant organizations (see Fee Schedule section);

- b) Invoicing and other fiscal procedures will conform to IEDC accounting practices; and,
- c) The accreditation visit team's hotel, meal and transportation expenses will be paid by the applicant organization.

- 16) Copies of organizational newsletters for the preceding year;
- 17) Copies of press releases issued within the past year; and,
- 18) One page review of between three and five of your most successful development projects over the past two years.

IEDC staff will review all information when submitted, will request clarification or expansion if needed, and will forward information to the AEDO Subcommittee in both summary and original form.

Critical Issues for Accreditation

The following four “critical issues” must be addressed in both the documentation and site team reviews.

1. Does the organization have professional leadership and staffing adequate to its mission? This means that people qualified to do the work are in place and have defined roles that they understand, and that these people work together as a team. Individual certifications may be in place but they are not the issue with regard to this question.
2. Does the organization have the budget and resources adequate to its job? Most professionals will detect when an organization is “over its head” with too much to do and without adequate budget or staff. Offices and equipment need not be fancy or highly technical, but they must be adequate to the job.
3. Does the organization have the respect and support of a community base with active commitment and participation appropriate to its mission? This means that there is stakeholder support from business community, political leadership, neighborhood or other groups that are essential to the mission.
4. Does the organization have a strategic plan that it follows, allocating resources based on its mission and the opportunities that it has identified? The plan must be adequate and fit the organization and its mission.

BASIC CRITERIA FOR PROCESSING APPLICATION

Initial processing of application for accreditation status will be done by IEDC staff that will use the following criteria:

- a) Does the applicant organization employ a full-time economic development professional?
- b) Does the applicant organization devote at least 50% of its time to economic development activities?
- c) Is the applicant organization a local or regional economic development organization (v. state, federal, railroad, utility, consultant practice, etc.)?
- d) Does the applicant organization have an IEDC member on staff (for purposes of computing the appropriate fee)?
- e) What is the organization's annual operating budget and/or departmental budget for economic development?

If these basic criteria are met, the economic development organization will be invited to apply for accreditation. If doubt exists as to the eligibility of the organization for participation in the AEDO Program, the Chair of the AEDO Subcommittee will be asked to review the information supplied and to make a determination.

GUIDELINES FOR SITE VISIT

Site visits are a key element in the success of the AEDO Program and provide important feedback as to whether the organization merits AEDO status.

The goals of the site visit are to:

- a) Examine the candidate economic development organization's operations;
- b) Evaluate the operations by means of the site visit criteria; and
- c) File a written report on the findings of the site team visit.

The site visit team comprises two or three volunteers. Team members must be Certified Economic Developers and/or have at least ten years experience in the economic development profession. At the time of the site visit, they must be practicing economic development in a senior role or position. Site visit team members will be drawn from a pool of volunteers that represent regional diversity as well as a mix of experience in small, medium, and large economic development organizations. The President and CEO of IEDC, along with staff involved with the AEDO Program, are encouraged to undertake a site visit in order to understand and familiarize themselves with the process.

Site visit team members will be asked to commit to no more than two visits per twelve month period, totaling six days (including travel time). All travel, meals and accommodation costs will be reimbursed by the applicant organization.

Prior to being assigned an applicant AEDO organization, all site visit team members will receive an orientation on the rules and requirements of the AEDO Program.

SITE VISIT EXAMPLE FORMAT

COMMUNITY STAKEHOLDER INTERVIEWS

An important facet of the site visit is for the visiting team to meet with prominent community leaders who are stakeholders in the local economic development process. To achieve this, nine categories of community leaders have been identified. Each candidate organization is asked to select four categories for the visiting team to meet with, each for no more than one hour.

Categories include:

1. Chief operating officer of a recently-located or recently assisted business;
2. Typical development ally;
3. Industrial/commercial real estate professional;
4. Representative of local/regional financial institution;
5. Key elected official;
6. Head of local planning agency;
7. Representative of state agency;
8. Representative of local/regional utility; and,
9. Open category (any individual not included in any of the above).
